About Rekindle

Rekindle has been helping people recover from mental illness since 1997. Since 2014 we have focused entirely on support young people aged 16 to 25. Using our recovery model, we aim to support every aspect of a young person's life; housing, relationships, work, training, finances, self-worth, confidence, and much more. They are enabled to make lasting changes, become part of the wider community and given a voice in the running of the service. Rekindle aims to remove barriers, to provide early intervention and to improve the resilience of young people.
